WATER WAY WINS

Committee Adopts Suggestions of Illinois Senator Regarding Levels

SURE TO PASS THE SENATE

Junior Member From State Declares Battle Has Been Won—State Legislature to Name Commission

Dispatches from Washington state that by an overwhelming vote that assured its triumph on the floor of the senate, the senate committee on commerce Tuesday afternoon wrote the Lorimer plan for the Illinois end of the lake-to-the-gulf ship channel into the river and harbor bill.

Not even a yea and nay vote was necessary, for the only senators who opposed it were Burton of Ohio and Smith of Michigan, and even Smith was lukewarm in his opposition. Senator Burton fought it to the last, but he only succeeded in adding a few lines to the duties of the commission which is to arrange plans for co-operation with Illinois.

The supporters of the project, headed by Senator Lorimer, are confident that the senate will accept the provision and that the hardest fight has been won. There had been some talk that the committee might be more evenly divided, but the opposition dwindled before the session began. It was an executive session, and not even Senators Lorimer and Cullom were admitted. Senator Stone of Missouri, a member of the committee, fought for the provision and succeeded in besting Burton at every turn.

The commission which is to investigate the project, and to report on its feasibility as well as on a plan for co-operation with Illinois, is to make its report at the opening of the winter session of congress in December.

Unless a special session of the Illinois legislature should be held in the meantime to send in another of the unending list of primary laws and find time to name a commission to handle the state end of the water way at that time such a commission will possibly be named at next winter's session of the legislature.

"The senate is sure to pass the bill as it stands," said Senator Lorimer, "and victory for our deep water way plan is certain. The provision which the committee has added to the duties of the commission will not interfere with it in the least."

"It will do no harm to get further information on the lowering of lake levels. We know that the water way will lower the level between four and seven inches, but the lakes are higher now than they ever have been and no harm will be done to navigation. Besides the levels can be preserved by a dam at the Soo, as already provided for, all at the cost of only $2,500,000."

"The commission will have its hands full making a report on the feasibility of the plan by the December session of congress. They will give the Illinois legislature ample time to name the state board some time next winter. Of course, if the Illinois legislature should have to get together again some time in the summer or fall to put another primary law upon the statute books, why, they might put in their spare time naming a state commission at that time. But I do not think a special session of the legislature will be necessary to carry out the Illinois part of the work."

The committee added the following provision to the duties of the commission to be appointed to look into the fourteen foot plan in Illinois and to arrange for co-operation with the state authorities:

"Said board shall report upon the feasibility of such water way and the most advisable depth and dimensions thereof, in case the same is recommended; also upon such measures as may be required properly to preserve the levels of the great lakes and to compensate, so far as practicable, for the diminished level in said lakes and the connecting waters thereof by reason of any diversion of water from Lake Michigan for the maintenance of the proper depth herein described, or diversion for any other purpose; and further, also, upon the influence on volume and height of water in the Mississippi river below Cairo and also the effect upon the climate of the lake states by a change in the natural currents of Lake Michigan."

DEATH OF ELMER HEGEMAN SEEK

Died at the All Saints Sanitarium in Milwaukee Friday Last

Elmer F. Hegeman, who was born at Wilmet, Wis., on the twenty-second day of February, 1881, the son of Henry and Lizzie Hegeman, both deceased, passed away on Friday night of last week at Sacred Heart Sanitarium, in Milwaukee, after an illness of six weeks, the cause of which was paralysis.

The last twelve years of his life was spent at Wilmet, after that he resided at Harvey, Ill., and a short time later came with his parents to Antioch, where his father opened a shoe store which he conducted till the time of his death. Here it was that Elmer grew to manhood and here he lived until ten years ago when he went to Milwaukee, Wis., to perfect his musical education, making a special study of the pipe organ at which instrument he excelled.

During this time he has held important positions at Racine college, and All Saint's Cathedral, and when stricken was organist at the First Unitarian church.

Although a young musician, he ranked among the best known organists of Milwaukee, and gave great promise of the future. He was a diligent student and his reading extended over a wide range. He was of a quiet retiring disposition but had made a large number of friends who assisted his relatives in caring for him during his last illness.

The funeral services were held at Milwaukee Sunday afternoon conducted by Dean Delaney of All Saint's Cathedral and attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends. The burial service was held at Wilmet Monday morning, the remains being interred there by the side of his father and mother.

Henry T. Tyrrell, Arthur Daniels and George H. Crandell of Milwaukee were among those who accompanied the remains to Wilmet.

The deceased is survived by the following relatives: John and Louis Hegeman, Mrs. C. A. Voltz and Mrs. F. J. Sablin, all of whom have the sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

AGED WOMAN IS BURNED

Mrs. Wm. Brumm Has Clothes Ignited From Bonfire

A woman of over eighty was horribly burned in an accident at Libertyville Monday morning and because of her age and the deepness of the burns her life is despaired of.

Near ten Monday morning Mrs. Wm. Brumm, the wife of a prominent cement contractor and a resident of Milwaukee avenue south of the electric depot, was out in the yard of the residence raking up leaves and rubbish and transferring them to a bon fire.

As she turned her back on the bon fire to rake in a large lot of rubbish the dancing flames swayed by the wind ignited her clothes and she became a human torch wildly calling for help and trying herself to beat out the flames with her hands.

Lawrence Eisler chanced to be passing and he ran to the rescue, jumping the fence and rushing to the scene. He beat at the flames with his bare hands and led Mrs. Brumm to the porch. He finally got the fire out, took the unconscious woman into the house and summoned medical aid.

Mrs. Brumm was burned about the back and limbs and lost even the hair of her head. She is suffering much and her life is despaired of.

Later—We learn that Mrs. Brumm died from the effects of the burns Monday night. Coroner Taylor held an inquest at which the jury returned a verdict that Mrs. Brumm came to her death by accidental burning, her clothes becoming ignited while she was burning trash. She was 72 years of age.

GANG OF CROOKS

Yeggmen Who Break Safes and Check Forgers Who Work Merchants

OPERATING IN LAKE COUNTY

Bankers of North Shore Fervent to Trap Check Forgers Who are Believed to Have Headquarters in Chicago

While bankers of the north shore are banded to lay a trap for an alleged gang of check forgers, police of Lake, Kane and McHenry counties are trying to locate a gang of yeggmen, the gang that has within the past few weeks cracked safes, robbed general stores and rifled village post offices.

Lake county robberies effected: Safes cracked at Fox Lake and Round Lake.

Robberies at Lake Villa, Rockefeller, Half Day etc.

Information reaching Sheriff Richardson of Kane county from McHenry county indicates that a gang of "yeggs" which cracked four safes, including that of the Hebron bank last week, is working in this vicinity, and the county authorities and police of Elgin and Aurora are seeking the gang that is suspected of having a hiding place in this vicinity.

Fortunately for the Hebron bank there was only $57 in the safe which the cracksmen entered, and it required a huge amount of dynamite to blow off the front of the safe which was supposed to be of the "burglar proof variety."

Clues which have developed at Hebron indicate that the various jobs were done by the same gang that wrecked four safes in western Lake county shortly before the Hebron robbery occurred.

Bankers in Kenosha as well as in all cities along the north shore are being warned to look out for a band of forgers who are at work in the various cities and it is claimed that the gang is one of the most dangerous that has ever operated in this section of the country. Their work started less than a week ago and already they have cashed fraudulent checks in many cities and it is thought that a lot of similar checks will turn up in the next few days.

It is known that these men are working from a headquarters in Chicago and checks secured from banks all over the territory are being used to further their scheme for obtaining money.

It is alleged that the gang has carefully prepared for the work and that members of the gang working in the various cities have opened small accounts in order to secure possession of checks book and that these books are furnishing the blank checks used in the forgeries.

CHILD'S EYE TORN OUT BY BROKEN GLASS

Little Henry Smith, two years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith of Indiana avenue Waukegan suffered a painful accident on Sunday morning when he stumbled and fell on a broken bottle. One eye was split open and a large artery in his nose was severed. The eye was nearly torn from the socket and it is said that the sight was destroyed.

The little chap was removed at once to the Jane McAlister hospital where he was placed under the care of Dr. Gourley. His extreme youth has made it necessary for his mother to be at his bedside constantly. The accident was one of the saddest that has occurred in some time.

The little fellow was toddling about his yard, carrying a glass bottle in his hands. Suddenly he stumbled over a box which he had not seen and in falling his face struck the bot tie, shivering it cutting his face horribly.

His parents heard his frantic screams and running into the yard beheld the child's plight. The physician was summoned and upon his advice the boy was removed to the hospital.

BLOW CAUSES DEATH

George Cook Charges Nephew Struck Wife Blow That Brought on Death

MRS. COOK DIED IN FLORIDA

Allie Wilson Arrested on Cook's Complaint But Dismissed by Justice Botsford Because of Insufficient Evidence

A sensational charge has been filed with State's Attorney Dady, which he is looking into and which he may or may not take action upon, but which it is said, even though he does not, may be forced to an issue by the bereaved husband, who charges that his wife's death was due to a blow administered by his nephew.

The man in question is George Cook, and the nephew in question is Allie Wilson. In case action is started it will develop into a sensational one as there are unusual features about it.

Mr. Cook has recently returned from Florida, where his wife died. He confessed with State's Attorney Dady on the matter, but Dady did not state whether he would proceed upon the case or not, whereupon Cook conferred with another legal firm relative to taking action himself, and according to his statements, he will push the case to the limit to determine whether he can prosecute his nephew, who he claims administered a blow which caused his wife's death.

According to Cook, some time ago, when his wife, who died in February, was visiting at the home of her sister, young Wilson returned home in a drunk condition, and in the course of trouble which followed, he struck Mrs. Cook a blow in the face. She wore glasses and as a result of the blow the glasses were broken and she was injured in such a manner that paralysis was caused which ultimately brought on her death.

Cook says that the doctor who attended her in Florida claims that the breaking of the glasses and the subsequent paralysis is what caused the woman's death, and he claimed that he would testify to that effect.

Cook upon his return stated that he would take up the case and traced the matter down to a point where, he claims he found that Wilson admitted that it was his blow that broke his aunt's glasses, for he sent her to an optician with orders to have the glasses repaired and that Wilson paid the bill, this, Cook claims showed admission of the responsibility of breaking the glasses. With the doctor's testimony that the paralysis which came on his wife was due to the breaking of the glasses and subsequent injury, Cook claims that he can hold Wilson responsible for the death of his aunt, or at least that he will try.

GRACE LANGEL VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS

Word has been received here announcing the death of Miss Grace Langel, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Langel, formerly of the Sylvan Beach hotel.

After leaving here the Langel's located at Waukegan and a little later removed to Chicago. A short time after settling there they were induced to seek a different climate on account of their daughter's ill health, and accordingly located at Asheville, North Carolina, where Mr. Langel opened a general store.

For a time the change seemed to benefit the young woman, who was suffering from that great white plague, tuberculosis, but the ravages of the disease could not be staid for any length of time and on Monday the twenty-eighth day of March she succumbed after many months of suffering.

Miss Langel was an accomplished young woman twenty years of age with a large number of friends who sincerely mourn her demise. She is survived by her father and mother and also a number of other relatives.

The remains will be brought to Chicago for interment.

INVENTS NEW MACHINE

L. C. Barthel Invents Hoisting Machine to be Used in Filling Ice Cars.

L. C. Barthel of Loon Lake, last week filed an application for a patent on a crane or hoisting machine, planned in such a way as to lift a dead weight of any amount.

At the present time he has constructed to use as a model a machine planned to raise a dead weight of one thousand pounds or less.

The object that Mr. Barthel has had in mind during the past nine years in which he has been working upon this machine at every opportunity, was to build a hoisting machine of some kind that would facilitate the packing of the ice into the cars for shipment, and at the present time the indications are that his efforts have been crowned with success.

In loading the cars by hand three men are required to load a car to within twenty four inches of the roof in one hour. Mr. Barthel claims that by the aid of his machine only two men are required to load a car and that the work can be accomplished in thirty minutes, and he also claims in favor of the machine that by its use one more tier of ice can be placed in each car or to within eight inches of the top.

If this machine, when put into actual service can accomplish all that is claimed it use will no doubt be generally adopted by the various ice companies, as a means of saving both money and time.

When his model was completed Mr. Barthel conceived the idea of putting it to use in other directions and states that it is his opinion that it can be successfully used in the erection of building, for the purpose of delivering the material to the workmen.

He also states that arrangements have been made to test the machine on the building which is being erected by G. E. Webb at the present time.

The machine is operated by a one horse power gasoline engine, at a very trifling cost for gasoline.

RAPIDLY SHIFTING SCENES

Moody Poisoning Case Reaches Lake County at Fox Lake

The rapidly shifting scenes connected with the death of Alexander Moody of Chicago by alleged arsenical poisoning, in which his man of all work Charles Peterson of St. Charles, is now said to be implicated to the extent that an inquiry is being made in regard to his alleged relations with the widow, have shifted in part to Lake county.

It became known that Moody, who was the senior member of the Chicago pie making firm of Moody & Waters, owned a country place near McHenry, and was well known in the Fox Lake and Pistakee bay regions.

Part of the information that Chicago detectives have unearthed is an alleged statement by Peterson made to a Chicago detective last summer at Pistakee that he then controlled all of Mr. Moody's affairs. Peterson denies that he made the statement.

While later developments tended to strengthen the theory that Moody was the victim of an atrocious murder, and discrepancies were found in the testimony of witnesses, no arrests have been made.

The police are working on two theories. One is that some enemy of the family or of the deceased went to the ice box on the back porch on the night of February 19 and poisoned the hamburger steak, not caring how many died with the intended victim.

The other is that some one within the household placed poison where Moody alone would eat of it. This theory is borne out by the statement that Ott ate part of one of the meat balls and experienced no illness, while another which was analyzed contained a large quantity of arsenic.

COUNTY CENSUS TAKERS

Charles Lux of Antioch Will Be the Enumerator for this Township

TO START WORK APRIL 15

List of Enumerators for the County the Obligation to Secrecy and the Compensation Each Will Receive

The following list of those who will take the census in this and other towns of the county, including Waukegan, was received from Census Supervisor Leon Nish, of Elgin:

Chas. N. Lux, Antioch.
Lawrence J. Wicks, Grayslake.
Wm. C. Heinroth, Winthrop Harbor.
Glen W. Carsley, Zion City.
Frank L. Waterman, Barrington.
Wm. H. Brownlee, Highland Park.
Frank Laing, Highland Park.
August G. Schwerman, Rockefeller.
Frank Vickery,
Joseph S. Haas, Wauconda.
George S. Bulkley, Libertyville.
Albert C. Corrie, Russell.
Ernest S. McNichols, Lake Bluff.
Joseph J. Samosky, North Chicago.
Wm. H. Howe, Lake Forest.
Oscar B. Whitmore, Gurnee.
Charles A. Worack, Waukegan.
Axel Lybeck,
Benjamin F. Weaver,
Conrad Hollstein,
Mrs. Maud E. Coulson,
Bert Tompkins,
Mrs. Norine J. Needham,
Daniel A. Brady,
Enoch J. Grand,
Frederick H. Meyer, Deerfield.

The following is the obligation to secrecy which each successful applicant for the position of census enumerator will be required to take:

"You are forbidden to communicate to any person any information obtained by you in the discharge of your official duties. By so doing you will render yourself liable upon conviction, to a fine of not exceeding $1,000 or to imprisonment. (See section 22 of census act.) You are not permitted to show your schedules, when filed or to retain copies of the same, and it is your duty to destroy all imperfect copies not returned to your supervisor. If, at the close of the enumeration, you are asked what is the population of your district, or any part thereof, reply that you are forbidden by the law to answer. All such requests, whether from newspapers, local officials, or individuals, are to be referred to the director of the census."

Each census taker will receive a paper indicating his class, that is, the rate of compensation. This is done in order that the pay of the various enumerators may be about the same. In sparsely settled communities the rate of pay is higher than in thickly settled communities, and thus the total pay received by enumerators is equalized.

In class B the rate is 24 cents for each farm, 30 cents for each establishment of productive industry, 20 cents for each slaughtering house, and 10 cents for each barn and inclosure containing live stock.

In class A for each inhabitant 2 cents, for each farm 30 cents, for each industry 20 cents, for each barn 10 cents, for each slaughter house 20 cents.

In class C for each inhabitant 3 cents, for each farm 25 cents, for each industry 30 cents, for each slaughter house 20 cents, for each barn 20 cents.

SYNOPSIS.

Basel Tempest, world's greatest poet and novelist, refusing further to be hounded, shuts himself up in Craven, his country home. His gloomy meditations are broken by the admission of an American, Lucy Corow, who has come to England to get a study of the author, but more especially a synopsis of his new suite of poems. Tempest, angry at being disturbed, declares he will write no more, and asks Lucy to go. Repenting his rudeness in sending her out at night in the rain, Tempest hastens after her, but she refuses to return to Craven with him and takes lodging with a cottager. Next morning Lucy receives an apology from Tempest and an offer to assist her in writing her essay. Tempest dictates to Lucy, who listens spellbound as she writes. Lucy decides to go to London, but Tempest induces her to remain and read her manuscript to him. Lucy's invitation to dine with Tempest, who in anger and disappointment, goes to London. He asks Lucy Ormond, with whom his name has been linked, to leave her husband, promising to marry her when the husband gets a divorce. She insists on the divorce first. Tempest departs for Craven.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

Miss Crew smiled. "I am afraid so." "Oh dear!" exclaimed the housekeeper reprovingly at the lack of professional enthusiasm. "Mr. Basil loves his writin'!" He was no more than six years old when I remember him coming to my room with a little stick of wood. I was under-housekeeper then and quite a young woman. "Henly," he said, "sharpen this into a pencil and I'll write you a birthday story." And time and again I can see him in the big chair by the fire in the housekeeper's room with the maids and me around him, makin' stories, his eyes big as saucers, his cheeks like roses." Mrs. Henly had not reminded about Lady Ormond and she was not conscious of reminding now. "Lady Tempest died at his birth, and for all the bringin' up he'd had—poor dear. One night, miss, I was in this very room (it was his mother's morning-room, and when the family were away I used to come in and dust the things myself), and a fly had driven up without my hearing it, for it was winter time and snow on the ground; and this door—she pointed to it—was pushed in and Parsos (the old white-headed butler you may have remarked, miss) came with a little lad by the hand. I'd not seen Mr. Basil for nearly five years. He stood there in his little great-coat and fur cap and says out clear as a bell: 'Henly, father sent me back to Craven. There's a letter for you in my pocket somewhere.' He was not much over ten years old.

"Just take this yellow stuff off the wall," commanded Mrs. Henly with imagination, "and put on a blue paper, and curtains to the window to match, and give me back my plain furnishings, and you have the dear old room, miss, as he stood in it. I have thought sometimes he always connected his lonely coming with it and was glad to change it. I says to him: 'They haven't ever sent you alone, Mr. Basil?' I couldn't believe my eyes—all the way from Paris like a lost foundling," she parodied.

"Why not?" he answered me as old—as old. "If I'm to live alone, I expect I can travel alone as well."

"Sir Geoffrey had married a French woman and she took a dislike to the child."

"You call him Mr. Tempest," the guest said.

"There's Sir Cyril, his brother—he's nine years older. How I've gone on!"

"Oh!" exclaimed Miss Crew, "not too much if you can talk to me—I'm more than touched by it; you've been a mother to him—or near it."

"All he had, poor lamb, from then till he went to Oxford, and then he made his friends. We had masters here for him. Sir Geoffrey wrote me month by month how to do for him and I had but to follow. If you could get him to talk of it all—there's a study! I sometimes wonder! His thoughts and feelings must have been strange enough some of those days."

In Miss Crew's sympathetic silence she went on: "I've been glad he wasn't my own if you will believe me, many times, for such as he was to me he has made my heart ache, and I suppose flesh and blood can ache deeper still for its own."

It was a singular ending. Miss Crew felt it so. Was he ungrateful—or base?

"I get quite savage here," Mrs. Henly apologized. "I never talk—I live in the past."

"It is you who should write the study," Mrs. Henly said her listener. "There's no one so well fitted. Alfred de Musset's nurse wrote her souvenirs of her master."

"Oh, me!" exclaimed the old woman. I can't write a letter any more and I've forgotten how to talk. I'd like to see it written in another way.

miss—in his children and on his wife's face. There! she exclaimed, "It's the motor car—it puffs like a porpoise, doesn't it?" and she hurried out to meet Mr. Tempest.

When Tempest came in the guest started—he had so grown! Her eyes were full of the little image Mrs. Henly had conjured up for her.

Tempest, utterly fagged, in traveling-dress, his hat and gloves in his hand, came forward with eagerness; his face lighted as he put out his hand.

"How enormously kind—how friendly of you—to wait. I stopped at the Ramsdills' in real dread for fear you had gone off somewhere, do you know? And to find you here waiting for me."

He did not remove his eyes from her, the intensity of his look, his taking in, as it were, of every line of her face, his possessive absorption of her, made her redder painfully, and her commonplace words of greeting stopped on her lips.

There seemed between them already an intimacy which had in her mind no excuse for being. She had a feeling of knowing him absolutely as she stood for the short space of a moment under his eager eyes. Furnished already with the little story of his boyhood, she had an advantage over him. Women understand men far better than men understand them, and she saw that no matter what he had gone to London to do, he had been restless, and that he was glad to be back and to find her there. He went over to the window and, unfastening it, stepped out and called back to her to follow him.

"There are just three roses here—I want you to gather them." He held back the stems that he might pluck close down and not hurt her hands with the thorns. Miss Crew picked three ten-roses in full bloom and came back to the morning-room with them to her hand.

"If I tell you I am not in a working-mood, you will desert me?" he asked. "I came," she said, quietly, "to read what I wrote out yesterday." She did not finish "otherwise I have no reason to remain," but he felt it on her tongue and hurried:

"You shall read—I mean if you will be so kind. The fire here is too good to leave. I'll fetch the manuscript and we'll have tea here."

"No tea, thanks—for me."

"Why not?"

"He was at the door."

"I'm not hungry—I'd rather not."

"But I'd rather," he said, laughing; "you forget my long fast and ride."

Another intimate little meal here alone with Mr. Tempest she felt she must not, and did not wish to, enjoy—but she had no choice. He returned in a few moments with his sheets of manuscript, and tea followed.

Miss Crew made it this time and served it from the most lovely china her hands had ever touched; egg-shaped cups with golden N's upon them. Tempest on the dивan near watched her with the intention that was growing bearable because she determined that it must be habit and not personal to herself.

"You like the china?" he asked. "It goes with the room. What do you think of it? The room, I mean."

"It seems to me," she said, bravely, "that it is not Craven, since you ask me. It is foreign, as though it were

"I think I don't understand you."

Tempest threw his head back; under his mustache she thought he bit his lip. He made a slight gesture of his hand as if he threw away something he held.

"No," he said, "of course you do not."

The Napoleon lamp, three straight bronze candlesticks under the vivid green shade, had been lighted, and the light fell on the girl's hands as she drew on her gloves. Tempest started with sudden eagerness as if to speak. Indeed, she waited in a state close to agitation. Then he caught himself up as a man who turns of a sudden in a roadway whither he has been walking at a good swing. Tempest mentally turned on his heel.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

An Old Title.

Two young men who had been chums at college went abroad together. One conscientiously wanted to visit every spot mentioned in the guide books; the other was equally conscientious about having an hilarious time. This naturally led to disagreements. In the course of one of these, the lover of pleasure said, tauntingly:

"Perhaps you are doing these places so thoroughly because you are going to write a book about your trip."

"I should," replied the other, promptly, "if Robert Louis Stevenson hadn't preempted the title I wanted to use."

"What's that?"

"Travels with a Donkey."

Starvation or Disarmament.

Since 1907 the price of bread has advanced 540 per cent. in Austria. So startling has been the increase in the cost of living in that country that the government may take steps to check the advance in prices. It Austria would send a good part of her great standing army out to till the fields it would help some, but the government, probably, will take no such radical step as that, as with an unprotected border they might not have any fields to till. The deplorable economic conditions in that country, however, are undoubtedly due in large part to militarism. Disarmament does not seem near, but threatened starvation is a mighty argument for its accomplishment.

In Massachusetts tree planting is systematically conducted along the public highways. Fifteen thousand trees have been planted in a few years—Arboriculture.

point of view, and she was obliged to reply, to say something in response.

"I don't know Lady Ormond."

"Nevertheless, you think all this? Answer me, please."

"Then yes," she said rather defiantly, "since you read another woman's character for me and analyze for me my unformed thoughts."

Tempest smiled bitterly and unfastened the velvet at the picture's back and took the pastboard out. "Since you feel so about her, isn't it unfair to keep her in evidence?" He leaned over and laid the photograph on the fire. The flames grew sadder under it and then glowed through it, the edges blackened and curled.

Tempest's action, unreserved as it was in the presence of a stranger, did not cause Miss Crew embarrassment. She was conscious of being an unregarded witness—he almost too utterly ignored her. She represented, so she believed, nothing personal, more unremarked than the objects of the room, which were, no doubt, directly connected with their choicer. When the picture had altered to a mass of blackened tissue film Tempest attentively came back to the picture that was as yet undestroyed—Miss Crew in the empire chair, her dark head against the yellow brocade, the firelight on her cheek and on her hands holding the manuscript. He held out his hand authoritatively.

"Now—the manuscript."

She was about to give it to him when she caught herself.

"To do what with?"

"To destroy."

Miss Crew held it tightly. A slight flush on her cheek and anger stirred in her against the burned goddess. Was she such a fetish that this sacrifice must follow?

With conscious jealousy she clung to the paper she held.

"You can't mean to burn this?"

"Yes—lay it on the flames, please."

"No," she said quietly and as determinedly.

"Why not?"

"Because it is too beautiful. I have read it badly, but it is too beautiful to destroy."

Grave and charming, she leaned forward in her empire chair. He seemed amused—or, more correctly, delighted. Her brows knitted, though he still held his hand out.

"Come, give it to me."

She smiled and shook her head.

Tempest leaned forward. "I shall have to take it by force."

She paled a little as he put his hands over hers that held the manuscript; with force gentle as it was strong he took both her hands for a moment, lifted them to him, half way to his lips, then let them fall and said petulantly:

"Why didn't you say you liked it, then, before? You are my public, my audience, and you read without comment." She did not answer. "I will spare you needless words of praise," he smiled, "but you have pleaded for it—will you sponsor it?"

"She had risen, and as if to put the manuscript out of harm's way laid it on the mantel where were her gloves and the roses together. "You have not answered me. Will you sponsor this new novel?"

"I think I don't understand you."

Tempest threw his head back; under his mustache she thought he bit his lip. He made a slight gesture of his hand as if he threw away something he held.

"No," he said, "of course you do not."

The Napoleon lamp, three straight bronze candlesticks under the vivid green shade, had been lighted, and the light fell on the girl's hands as she drew on her gloves. Tempest started with sudden eagerness as if to speak. Indeed, she waited in a state close to agitation. Then he caught himself up as a man who turns of a sudden in a roadway whither he has been walking at a good swing. Tempest mentally turned on his heel.

An Old Title.

Two young men who had been chums at college went abroad together. One conscientiously wanted to visit every spot mentioned in the guide books; the other was equally conscientious about having an hilarious time. This naturally led to disagreements. In the course of one of these, the lover of pleasure said, tauntingly:

"Perhaps you are doing these places so thoroughly because you are going to write a book about your trip."

"I should," replied the other, promptly, "if Robert Louis Stevenson hadn't preempted the title I wanted to use."

"What's that?"

"Travels with a Donkey."

Starvation or Disarmament.

Since 1907 the price of bread has advanced 540 per cent. in Austria. So startling has been the increase in the cost of living in that country that the government may take steps to check the advance in prices. It Austria would send a good part of her great standing army out to till the fields it would help some, but the government, probably, will take no such radical step as that, as with an unprotected border they might not have any fields to till. The deplorable economic conditions in that country, however, are undoubtedly due in large part to militarism. Disarmament does not seem near, but threatened starvation is a mighty argument for its accomplishment.

In Massachusetts tree planting is systematically conducted along the public highways. Fifteen thousand trees have been planted in a few years—Arboriculture.

NAME RULEMAKERS

BOTH PARTIES MEET IN CAUCUS AND ELECT THEIR MEMBERS.

INSURGENTS OUT IN FORCE

Republicans Select Six and Democrats Four Representatives on New House Committee to Supercede Present One.

Washington.—The new house committee on rules will consist of the following members:

Republicans—John Dalzell, Pennsylvania; Walter I. Smith, Iowa; J. Sloat Fassett, New York; Henry S. Beutell, Illinois; Sylvester C. Smith, California; George P. Lawrence, Massachusetts.

Democrats—Champ Clark, Missouri; Oscar Underwood, Alabama; John J. Fitzgerald, New York; Lincoln Dixon, Indiana.

This committee, when elected by the house, will supersede the committee composed of Speaker Cannon, Dalzell, Smith of Iowa, Republicans; Clark and Fitzgerald, Democrats. Dalzell is picked for chairman.

All the "insurgents" with the exception of Gardner of Massachusetts were present at the Republican caucus and voted, and such of them as Morris and Murdoch declared they were satisfied with the result.

When the caucus was called to order Representative Tawney took the floor and made a most impassioned speech for harmony. A similar speech was made by Payne of New York.

On conclusion of the speeches the following names were placed in nomination:

Longworth, Gaines, Gardiner, Fassett, Smith (Iowa), Boutell, Dalzell, Smith (California), Kahn, Lawrence, Loudon, Miller, Stevens, Cooper, Denby, Murdoch, Davidson and Martin.

Needham of Colorado, Olmstead of Pennsylvania, Parsons of New York and Norris of Nebraska were also nominated, but they declined.

It was decided on motion of Representative Hubbard, and seconded by Payne of New York, that the ballot should be secret.

Those nominated by the insurgents, were Gardiner, Cooper, Murdoch, Davidson, Martin and Norris.

The following was the first vote announced: Smith (Iowa), 108; Dalzell (Pennsylvania), 146; Lawrence (Massachusetts), 126; Fassett (New York), 113; Smith (California), 92; Boutell (Illinois), 86; Kahn (California), 56; Longworth (Ohio), 33.

The first four were declared elected. In the second ballot the important votes were: Smith of California, 136; Boutell of Illinois, 108; Longworth of Ohio, 59, the first two being declared elected.

The insurgents did not show up strong in the voting. Gardner of Massachusetts, who was sick and absent, got 33 votes, the highest number.

Norris got 6; Cooper, 4; Madison, 4; Murdoch, 6; Fish, 7; and Davidson, 5. Speaker Cannon was present during the caucus, but took no active part in the proceedings.

Mr. Longworth was nominated by two insurgents, Taylor of Ohio and Pickett of Iowa. His largest vote, coming on the second ballot, was 59, or just 15 more votes than were cast by the insurgents on the adoption of the Norris resolution.

The insurgents have promised to support the caucus nominees in balloting in the house, and by their votes in the caucus pledged themselves to carry out that promise.

Prior to the assembling of the caucus the insurgents held a meeting at which they decided to vote a protest against the selection of Messrs. Dalzell and Fassett. But they stopped there, and Dalzell and Fassett had no difficulty in winning.

The Democrats selected their committee in caucus Thursday with 140 members present. Harmony was the watchword of the assembling.

Mr. Sims of Tennessee presented a resolution immediately after the caucus was called to order by Chairman Clayton instructing the new Democratic members on rules to use their efforts to bring from the general committee a resolution providing for the election of a committee on committees by the house. This committee is to name members of the house committees.

Tawney of Illinois promptly made a point of order that the caucus was called primarily to select members of the new committee on rules and Clayton sustained the point of order.

Sims appealed from the decision, but withdrew the appeal when assured he could bring his resolution up later. This he did but it was snowed under.

The selection of members resulted: Clark, 125; Underwood, 102; Dixon, 90; Fitzgerald, 98. There was a large scattering vote, including Hammond, 18; Slayden, 63; Hughes, 8; Sulzer, 5; Ralphy, 4; Clayton, 2; Sherley, 3; and A. Mitchell Palmer, 3.

Bolt, Not Boys, to Blame.

Newton, N. J.—A committee appointed by the First Presbyterian church to find the mischievous boy "who climbed the 180-foot spire of the church and removed the big gilt ball that surmounted it" Wednesday reported its findings, exonerating the youth of the town. A bolt of lightning was responsible for the disappearance of the ornament.

When the bolt struck the ball fell from its place a molten mass and was destroyed before it reached the ground. The spire bears no marks of the lightning.

WELL KIDNEYS KEEP THE BODY WELL.

When the kidneys do their duty, the blood is filtered clear of uric acid and other waste. Weak kidneys do not filter off all the bad matter. This is the cause of rheumatic pains, backache and urinary disorders.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure weak kidneys.

Rev. A. B. M. Weaver, Georgetown, Tex., former editor Baptist Herald, says: "At a Baptist conference at Jackson, Tex., I fell from a platform and hurt my back. I was soon over the injury, but the kidneys were badly disordered, passages painful and often bloody. Doan's Kidney Pills cured this trouble completely."

An Inward Conviction.

Tommy, having disposed of three helpings of sausages and doughnuts sat mournfully regarding his empty plate.

Observing his pensive expression, Aunt Sarah kindly asked: "Tommy, won't you have some more doughnuts?"

"No'm!" the poor lad replied, with feeling emphasis, "I don't want them I got now!"—Harper's Magazine.

Scene II.—"Den" in the Club House. After the Man.

MISS DAISY McNAMER will Sing Between the Acts

SYNOPSIS OF PROGRAM

ACT I.—Nan's Room. After the dance, Nan prepares for a chafing dish party. Betty and the two juniors arrive. Halloween and leap year are discussed. The Sophomores interrupt. Dixie bewails the lack of romance in every-day life. Betty proves the contrary. Jane announces a caller for Nan. A lively controversy between the Freshmen and Sophomores. A Halloween stunt. Nan offers herself for the crucial test. The girls breathlessly await her return. An exciting story and a football shoe. Nan tells of her quarrel with Jack. The girls depart. "I've broken my promise—lost his friendship."

ACT II. SCENE I.—Same as Act I. After the game. Nan nervously awaits the result. Jane enlightens her upon the technicalities of football. The girls come from the game. Great noise and hilarity. Jack's accident and misfortune are related. Nan makes up her mind. "He needs you—won't you go to him?" SCENE II.—"Den" in the Club House. After the man. The shoe fits. Cinderella finds her Prince.

The Wisdom of the Serpent.
The serpent tempted the woman not because she was the weaker, but because she was the leader; not because of her subordination, but on account of her superiority. She was the stronghold of the fortress, and to win her was to win all. She held the key to the situation. She was the keeper of the castle. Where she led for good or evil the man would follow!—From a Sermon by Rev. Mr. Kerr of Chicago.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root. If you do you will be disappointed.

How Good News Spreads

"I am 70 years old and travel most of the time," writes B. F. Tolson, of Elizabethtown, Ky. "Everywhere I go I recommend Electric Bitters, because I owe my excellent health and vitality to them. They affect a cure every time." They never fail to tone the stomach, regulate the kidneys and bowels, stimulate the liver, invigorate the nerves and purify the blood. They work wonders for weak, run-down men and restoring strength, vigor and health that's a daily joy. Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction is positively guaranteed by J. H. Swan.

Thirst for Novelties.

The curse of modern life—the thirst for the new, the rage to get out of the old skin—is the blight on our literature, our art, our drama, our manners—often our morals. It is passion without aim, or conviction, or feeling—a mere restless itch to get free from old habits and to get into something uncommon, it hardly matters what, if only it can announce itself as "unconventional."

Saved A Soldier's Life.

Facing death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone, of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough, that stuck to me in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. I now weight 178 pounds." For coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, hemorrhage, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough and lung trouble, its supreme, 50c. 1.00, trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. H. Swan.

Friday morning a disastrous fire occurred at the home of Wm. Lasco, Jr., about a mile north east of town. The cause of the fire is unknown as only the children were in the house at the time, Mrs. Lasco having gone to the barn. Glancing toward the house she was horrified to behold flames issuing from the kitchen. Neighbors hastened to the scene and every effort was made to subdue the flames, with no avail, and they were soon past control. A small portion of the household goods were saved the most of it being some of the furniture that was in the front part of the house. The building was completely destroyed, but fortunately the fire did not spread to the out buildings. The family at once moved just across the road into the house on the Harlow Barber farm, which Mr. Lasco purchased a short time ago. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

C. L. Hockney of Silver Lake, met with an accident Sunday afternoon, which came very near costing him his life. Having completed a new motor boat he had taken it to Wilmot and attempted to launch it just below the dam. The eddy at that point is very strong and the boat being caught by it was whirled round and round at the same time was drawn so close to the fall that it was filed and sunk. He and the young man who accompanied him both sank, but Mr. Hockney was caught in the rush of the falls and was rescued only with great difficulty. When at last he was taken to the shore he was completely exhausted and unconscious. A physician worked over him for some time before he was resuscitated. His companion escaped with greater ease and suffered no ill effects.

States in a War Over a Postmaster

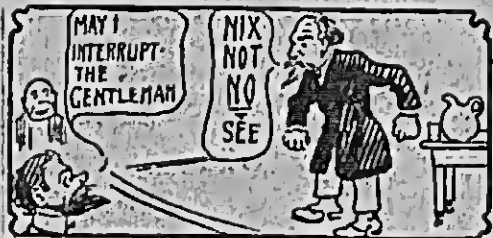

WASHINGTON.—It's hard enough to have constituents in any event, but it's much harder to have 'em for next door neighbors.

Representative Slemple is the only Republican member of the house from Virginia. This, is of course, a Republican administration. So when anybody in Virginia wants anything he comes to Slemple.

Just now Slemple is facing a problem in Little. The town of Bristol is split up between Virginia and Tennessee. Representative Brownlow of Tennessee, like Slemple, is the lone Republican from his state. White House influence is divided. For 40 years a Tennesseean has been postmaster of Bristol. Brownlow wants a Tennesseean to be postmaster. But the president has appointed a Virginian to the place. The appointment still lacks senate sanction, so that Brownlow has not given up hope. Slemple is smiling, for the reason that the senate is not considering his man's name.

Question of Ethics Raised in House

MR. SHERLEY was making a speech in the house several days ago when Representative Clayton arose and asked: "May I interrupt the gentleman?"

Mr. Sherley—Certainly.

Mr. Clayton—To say that the gentleman from Georgia is unavoidably taken away and is not present.

Mr. Sherley—I thought the gentleman wanted to ask me a question.

Mr. Clayton—I wanted to ask the gentleman—

Mr. Sherley—I would rather go on with my remarks but just ask the question.

Mr. Clayton—That is to say, does the gentleman think that any man who in falling circumstances goes to a man who has money, within four months of his failure, and says to him: "I am about to fail; I am in an embarrassed position; let me have a thousand dollars and I will prefer you." Do you think any sane man will let him have that thousand dollars?

Mr. Sherley—I will say, if you will read the law, you will find the express provision that he can get a thousand dollars and give security for it, and there is not the slightest reason why a man should not lend it if he wants to.

Mr. Clayton—That is not an answer to my question.

Mr. Sherley—That is my answer; I am not going to answer it as the gentleman wants, but I have answered it according to the law.

Mr. Clayton—If the gentleman will not be so much in earnest and a little more dispassionate—

Mr. Sherley—Permit me to make my speech. After I make it you may make such criticism of my manner as you choose. I insist upon consuming my own time.

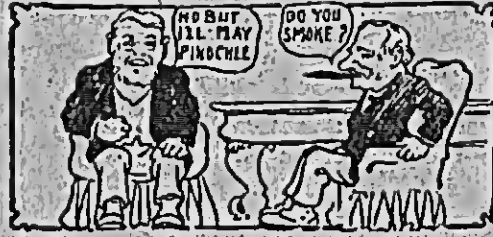

Mr. Clayton—May I interrupt the gentleman?

Mr. Sherley—The gentleman cannot.

Mr. Clayton—I am very sorry that the gentleman's argument is so vulnerable that he cannot submit to an interruption.

Question: Was the expressed regret justified or genuine?

Senator Burton and the Tobacco Habit

THE senate committee on commerce, of which Burton of Ohio is a member, was just about to begin its afternoon session. Senator Frye of Maine, chairman of the committee, sat at the head of the long table. Burton sat midway toward the end from Frye. Presently Burton pulled an cigar from his vest pocket. He lit it, rose and stalked up the room toward Frye. Frye looked at him quizzically.

"Well, Burton," said the Maine senator, "I'm glad to see you have one vice."

Burton held his cigar between his thumb and forefinger like a boy learning to smoke.

"Ah, senator," he said, "I have many vices; I have many."

Frye only grinned a little at that. Burton came closer to him.

How Congressman's Secretary Got Help

SECRETARY HORN of the staff of Representative Gurnea, is a Foxy fellow. The other day he sent out invitations to a number of other secretaries for a lunch in his office of a certain night.

"Fine," said the surprised secretaries.

"I'll have a pretty girl for each of you," said Horn.

"Finer," said the secretaries. He had the lunch and the girls. He had spent nearly six dollars, though some of the secretaries said afterwards that they had no idea that the girls had brought the lunch. It is of record whether the lunch was before or after Horn unfolded his little scheme.

In any event, before each secretary each girl had left, they had adressed about a thousand envelopes apiece. You see, it's seed time here; all the congressmen are sending Secretary Wilson's seeds to their constituents.

Horn saw a monumental task before himself. Hence the pretty-girl-tompling-lunch invitation. Now a number of pretty girls and secretaries are wondering who got the best of it. The party idea in this connection has taken root, too. One secretary has a scheme to have a stag affair in his office. He will have cigars and pop.

One of the New York members of the house was in New York recently and met some of the state politicians. When the session closed a state senator owed the congressman a nice little sum which he did not have about him. However, he forwarded a check very soon and inclosed the following note: "Most unwillingly I inclose a check. If it were such a debt as you could owe me for, I am inclined to think I would not pay it. As it is, I feel that I must pay it if I want to consider myself a gentleman."

U.S. JUSTICE IS DEAD

DAVID J. BREWER EXPIRES OF APOPLEXY AT HIS HOME.

DEATH AFFECTS BIG CASES

His Demise Cannot Fail to Have Important Bearing on Impending Oil and Tobacco Case Decisions.

Washington.—Associate Justice David Josiah Brewer of the supreme court of the United States was found dead in a room in his house at 11 o'clock Monday night. Physicians summoned decided that the justice had died of apoplexy.

Justice Brewer was one of the best known members of the supreme bench to the people of the country. He was one of the most outspoken in public speeches and interviews, and though a Republican, never let his partisanship interfere with the criticism of Republican administrations.

Close application to the work of the supreme court in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases undoubtedly hastened the death of the associate justice. He had been devoting himself ever since the recent arguments to the study of the Oil trust cases and he had a volume of the record of the case in his hand when death overtook him.

He had gone into the bathroom to prepare his bath after having devoted the night to study. A few minutes later Mrs. Brewer, second wife of the justice, heard him feebly calling for aid. When she reached him he had become unconscious. He died before the physician, Dr. H. A. Taylor, who was summoned, arrived.

Justice Brewer had been in his usual good health all day and had taken his accustomed walk.

District Judge Ashley W. Gould was summoned immediately by the family, and took charge of affairs in the stricken household.

Miss Minnie Brewer, who lives in Washington, an aged sister of the justice, is in such feeble health that she was not notified.

EIGHT KILLED ON CRUISER

Gun Explodes Aboard Flagship Charleston at Manila, While Vessel Was at Target Practice.

Manila, P. I.—A report that a fatal accident had occurred on the United States cruiser Charleston was confirmed Monday. Eight men were killed and several others were injured slightly.

While the crew was at practice at sea off Olongapo, the breechlock of a three-inch gun blew off, and in its flight across the deck cut through a steel stanchion and mowed down the men in its path. Seven of the victims were killed instantly and an eighth died from his injuries.

The dead: Ansted, Walter, seaman; Barkman, Ralph, seaman; Barper, Maxie, seaman; Carden, Harry, seaman; Heater, Harry, seaman; McKee, Philip, master-at-arms; Mollin, Edward, private marine; Remondelle, Leo, seaman.

The cause of the explosion is not known. Rear Admiral John Hubbard, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, has ordered an investigation. The bodies of the victims will be buried at Cavite.

The Charleston, which is Rear Admiral Hubbard's flagship, Monday returned to the firing range. Her commanding officer is Commander John H. Gibbons.

HUNDREDS KILLED IN FIRE

Ball in Hungary Is Turned Into Scene of Horror—Roof Falls on Dancers.

Male-Szalka, Hungary.—Two hundred and fifty people were killed and many others were injured in the village of Oekoerito Sunday when fire broke out in a hotel at which a ball was being held.

A coach house connected with the hotel had been fitted up as a ball room, and was crowded with several hundred guests when the fire started. It was noticed first when a woman's dress was seen to be ablaze, and a moment later the gowas of several women were in flames.

A panic following, and in a mad rush to the exits persons fell and were trodden to death by others.

The roof fell before the hall could be cleared and many injured persons and those who because of the crush at the doors had been prevented from escaping were buried with the dead in the ruins.

King Menelik Dead.

Rome.—Dispatches Monday from Addis Abeba, the capital of Abyssinia, says that King Menelik is dead. Menelik's death has been reported so often that the dispatches, which are lacking at confirmation, have occasioned no surprise.

Royal Stork Visits Sweden.

Stockholm, Sweden.—Crown Princess Gualyve Adolph of Sweden, formerly Princess Margaret of Connaught, gave birth to a daughter Monday. The other children of the crown prince and princess are Prince Gustave Adolph, born in 1906, and Prince Sigvard, a year younger.

Col. Levi C. Weil Is Dead.

New York.—Col. Levi C. Weil, president of the Adams-Express Company, died Monday at the Plaza hotel of heart disease, aged 63 years.

ANY WOMAN CAN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR.

(From French Beauty Monthly.) "No woman should use water upon her hair oftener than once in two months," says M. Fournier, the noted French scientist. "Dry powder only should be used. Moisture causes the hair to lose its color and in time become thin."

"Any woman desiring abundant, lustrous hair should use a dry shampoo every two or three days. Mix four ounces of powdered orris root with four ounces of theriac. Sprinkle about a tablespoonful of this mixture upon the head; then brush the powder thoroughly through the hair. This will keep it light and fluffy, and beautifully lustrous. You will soon see new hair starting to grow. This treatment is the only thing that I am sure will produce a growth of hair."

"While plain orris root is used as a dry shampoo by many women, still, no such results can be obtained as by using the formula I have given."

The Right Spirit.

Apocryphal Valentine day a passenger on the Bermudian said:

"Mark Twain once told us, in a little Valentine day speech on this boat, of an Irish wooer who had the right valentine spirit. Acceptance or rejection he could take with equal grace."

"Will ye be my valentine?" he said on February 14 to the girl he loved.

"No," she replied. "I am another's."

"He heaved a sigh and said:

"Shure, thin, darlin', I wish ye was twine, so that I could have at laste the half of ye."

Have You Tried?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Cresson, Pa.—"Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, and when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and now I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. Ella E. Alkey, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.—"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible. I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my ills, and I am nearly sixty years old."—Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

LAKE VILLA

Max C. Deylitz visited friends in Chicago Monday.

Did anyone see anything of Joy Sunday? He must have been quite tired.

A large crowd from here enjoyed the Easter dance at Round Lake Monday evening.

E. Sheehan was out to Lake Villa with his new touring car. It was a whirlwind.

Allendale will hold dancing parties every Saturday evening commencing April 2.

What does Johnnie do around the restaurant? He is there from school time to bed time.

Misses Sadie Grady and Margaret Wallace were out to spend Easter at the resort on Crooked Lake.

Miss A. Brown leaves Lake Villa for the last time. Everyone is beginning to miss her; at least I know one who is.

There was a great surprise going about here Tuesday evening. Does anyone know what it was? Ask the one in green.

Daily classes are over at 1 o'clock. I see all the high school girls returned home Thursday. Why? Because they did not know school calls at 1 o'clock.

What's the matter with our Ziegler? He's all right. Come to think of it, I believe he has a record on the Y. M. C. A. track. Hal! Hal! Ask him.

The famous "Wireless" that was played at Lake Villa opera house met with great success. The house was jammed both evenings. The patrons of Friday evening enjoyed it so much that they all attended Saturday. The Club boys expect to show at Grayslake in the near future.

ONE OF LIFE'S GREAT JOYS

Maintenance of Relative Anxylum Sadler and More Common Than the Arrival of Twins.

The story of the man whose family is increased by a procession of twins and triplets will be harrowing, but it can never take the first prize in a hard luck story, contest against the tale of the sorrows of a city man whose wife attracts country relatives. Betsy comes in from Pennsylvania Corners to visit her aunt and attend a city high school. Oliver decides that he ought to have the advantages of a more famous business college than Prof. Roebuck's seminary. Grace comes to the city to cultivate her voice and take dancing lessons. Henry "puts up" at his aunt's house until he can find a job; then, after he finds one, he grows homesick in a hall bedroom, comes back to auntie for sympathy and is advised never to leave again. Whistler's caller, who came to stay over night and remained for two years, would not be thought to be doing anything out of the ordinary at one of these relative asylums.

"I notice you have another visitor," a friend remarked to the proprietor of one of the largest asylums of this sort in Kansas City.

"Yes," the man answered in a lifeless, matter-of-fact tone. "He's here for 12 years—four in high school, four in college, four in medical school. My wife's second cousin, you know."

Church Bell Kills Sexton.

M. Dumet, sexton of the church at Bayet, was killed by the bell falling from the tower. He had gone to ring it to announce religious service, when it snapped off and dropped, killing him on the spot.

Real Meaning of Fact.

The real meaning of fact is thinking, about others. It means considering what others will think and feel, instead of considering only what we ourselves think and feel.—Home Chat.

Chicago Boy's Excellent Reasons for Keeping Silent About Some Things He Knows.

"Pa," asked a Chicago boy, who has recently been making frequent trips to his father's office, "do you believe in gettin' divorced?"

"No. There is altogether too much of that kind of thing going on."

"Don't you think ma ought to get a divorce from you if you did wrong?"

"Why do you ask such questions? You are too young to bother about things of that kind."

"But suppose you did, do you think ma ought to go on livin' with you?"

"It would depend on how bad I had been. People who have children should be willing to bear a great deal without letting the world know about it."

"If other women came into your office and you plucked their cheeks when you didn't think anybody was lookin' and they called you Fuzzy Wuzzy and Tootles and made you give them money to buy theater tickets, do you think ma ought to stick to you?"

"I don't know. I wish you'd stop asking questions and run out and play. You are tiresome."

"Then I'm not goin' to tell her all I know," cause I don't want to break up this family."
